

REMARKS

In response to the Restriction Requirement mailed August 27, 2007, Applicant has amended the claims to change the scope of examination, and requests a commensurate change in the restriction.

The claims of record have been canceled. New claim 25 is of the scope of original claims 1 and 2 combined, in which the latch closure is attached to the receiving element. This is considered to be the generic invention to be examined. The claims which fall under the generic invention are claims 25, 26, and 30-32.

The particular species which is to be examined is the species shown in Fig. 2a, in which the latch closure comprises two spring arms. Claims 27-29 read on the elected species.

Claims which read on the other species have been canceled from the application.

Examination of the claims on the merits on the basis of the claims presented above is requested.

Respectfully submitted,
